St. Stanislaus Echoes.

Rockstars played a new game of the season, on Saturday night.

On last Saturday night the St. Stanislaus Football team played its first game of the season.

Although the score was a tie, 0-0, as most people expected, the game was won by a good play.

Most of the spectators at the game were from the local high school.

The St. Stanislaus prospects are unusually bright. Seldom has a local team ever added themselves so well in their first game.

The speed and power of the team has this year, and it should be able to show Jefferson the tricks of the game when they meet here on November 30th.

The line-up for Sunday was as follows:

NOTES FROM CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL FOR THE WEEK.

October! The second month of school when we have hit the hard bottom and must begin boring into studies.

Miss Pearson has created so much interest in her classes that the high school pupils forget to take advantage of the recess period.

The 7th and 8th grade entertained the Literary Society with the following program:

1. Song. 2. Roll call—Answer by quotations. 3. Declaration—Jean Larroux. 4. Composition—Mathilda Ladner. 5. Recitation—Eliza Toquet. 6. Piano solo—Rosalie Orth. 7. School notes—Joe Noto. 8. Dialogue—Ester Frost and D. Landry.

9. Current events—Jesse Coward. 10. Music—Mabel Unsworth. 11. Song—Eliza Toquet and Mae Speaks. 12. Recitation—Rosalie Orth. 13. Song—7th and 8th grades.

Several patrons attended the meeting, but why not more? Next Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock the 5th and 6th grade will render their first program. There are 15 boys and girls in this room. See them put on a high-class program.

We welcome the new students who continue to join our Central school force. There were seven additions to the roll next week. The two hundred mark will soon be reached.

Owing to the demand made by the girls for their basket ball it was necessary that the boys purchase one of their own.

A second team of basket ball has been organized. At the close of each month there will be published an honor roll of pupils who have made not less than 90 in any subject, not less than 95 in deportment.

Honor for the first month is as follows:

BULL'S COLUMN

By Fuller Bull.

Mr. Red Hogan.

New York. Dear Red:

According to prearrangement, there of we of this burg took along all the females what belonged to our tribe at about 2 of the P. M. on last Sunday and liked our happy way down past the depot and feed stores which festooned the highway whither we had to do the wending; we brought up with a jerk in our spavined leg at a gateway wherein stood a likely looking youth busily growl a Chaplin under his nose, and his north paw stuck out for stray quarters. After running the gauntlet of the pay-savou enter-entries, we got into the main slaughter pen and found standing room only. (See, Red, they ain't got nothing else to sit on, and you wood not sit if they offered you a rocker)

We picked out a lump of dirt what looked higher than its neighbors and started to keep our dignity and not get flustered, nor excited—but shucks, Red, they ain't no use, boys, for pretty soon the gladiators got line up for the fray and some guy started to callin all the numbers whats in the rhythmic and the hole dern gaw went at each other like the helibent on murder or somethin. I looked around to see if they was a Nero somewhere with his thumbs down, but I could not locate him. Well, all the however, them athletics was showin the stuff what young America's made of, and the opposin team begun to soon find out that somebody's steered em up against a stove. But I ain't told you who they was; they was old Sic em Foster and his bunch of Saint-Stans, from over to the House of Brains, and he was buckin the other bunch of Saints from over to the Crescent burg what runs the Saint Aloysius College.

kr hdehTho vorPae eta rahise Red, the family name of this game is known as Foot-Ball, but they should be a act of Congress what would change it to somethin what would fit it better for you have little use for your feet other than to keep you in the running or maybe to step on another guy's hand or somethin; for this game seems to be played with the hands and brains and what goat propensities that a guy can command. I want to take a jurat right now while I am about it that these guys whats under the command of Sic em Foster are all some kin to Nannie's husband, old man Bill. Red, you know that big human mountain what they call Jumbo Jaubert? Well, he belongs to that Billy class; yes, do you know that guy lowers that head of his and massacres part of his own family? Sure thing; it was his ill Bro. what got in the way, and the medicos found out that his collar button, no I mean his collar-bone, was broke. Red, I want to wise you that this ain't no Pink Tea business.

We hadn't hardly made an impression on that mud lump what we selected to oversee the gang on before I see a guy with a big "B" on his front go a tearin round the end like fourteen Joneses was behind him, he was going so fast that I couldn't identify him so I turned to a guy what was standing next to me to ask—but Red, I didn't have to ask any fool questions, for the man on my left was Harry Glover, and all you had to do was to look at his face and you saw who the boy was what was running. I crossed over to the other side for fear that the said Harry might get a little violent and bump me off'n my midlump. Old Redskin, I will say that every one of 'Sic em's' bunch' played that game like it meant life or death. A guy what was standin there tells me the names of some of them heroes, him and me gets up a converse and he says: "See that thing that looks like a white streak over there?" I says, "Yes," what is it? Smoke? "No mister, that's Cricket Keifer makin a run." Just at that time I see the Crickets throw the ball to another guy: "Look, he's handin his gravy to Gex!" Sure, pop, he hands the pigskin over and Walt buries it behind the line for a "touch-down." What did the tube do? I see! The kid looks at me for a spell and says: "That's the MAN in him, he's in the game for the gamesake and wont crab anything on a hero line." Just at that time, old man, Jube Fluve upset his waterbucket and the crowd streaked for cover. I went over to the "Quarters" so as to be near the heroes, but got fifteen ounces of disappointment for I located a stand right in a bunch of them Saint-Allys. I couldn't leave for I had on my hay skypiece. After the time was up all them guys went on the field just like they was a bunch of Fordsons, and pretty soon they was yvin with each other to see who could make the most mud. The rain had the dop on us, but not on that lot of redbloodes, the kid follows me out soon the drops got skinny and shows me where Scafe and the bunch were trying to dig a trench with their noses, Sam was draggin two or three of the enefy to no mans land and the balance was trying to find some moke what would stand long

Bad Order" Freight Cars Produce No Revenue

The chart here reproduced is taken from the official bulletin of the Association of Railway Executives and furnishes an interesting insight into a situation which concerns every business man. It is published as part of an informative campaign being conducted by the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company.

The above graphic chart is most significant to all shippers of the country. This is what it means.

If business in the United States were to receive the same service from the railroads as it receives today, it would be a smaller percentage of the total revenue of the railroads. The chart shows that the percentage of freight cars in "bad order" has increased from 1916 to 1921. The car shortages of 1918, 1919, and 1920 have caused delays in traffic and have even caused the loss of business.

Whenever the Congress is willing to make an appropriation to help sustain the railroads, I think that we can consider a general reduction in rates. But with a situation in which there is no net income, even when the rates are reduced, the railroads cannot be sustained.

The railroads' earning power was practically destroyed during the war. Until it is restored they cannot command the capital from investors to provide the additional equipment and facilities that the business of this country will need.

Not on Friendly Terms

The figure 8 crowns on old-fashioned washday methods. For it is the magic figure in the 1900 Cataract Electric Washer which washes the water back and forth through the clothes, in a perfect figure 8 motion four times oftener than in the ordinary washer.

The swinging wringer is reversible, and also works electrically. The copper tub has not one single part in it—nothing to lift out and clean after the wash is finished.

We'd be glad to deliver a 1900 Washer right to your home, and let you try it out. When you have seen what it can do, you may start paying for it on terms to suit your convenience.

—According to the ruling of the Board of Supervisors in session this week, the hunting season in Hancock county, will open on the 15th inst. This will be rather good news to the many who have been anticipating such announcement.

—In order to better serve the public and to avoid any possibility of delays during the winter and low water season, the Board of Supervisors in regular session this week decided to order the building of an extension of 150 feet to the Bay St. Louis ferry pier. This will insure deep water at any time during the year round. Advertisement for bids for this work appears elsewhere in this issue of The Echo.

—The Echo surrenders much of its space this week to official publications. On page 2 will be found the city's annual financial statement, including the proceedings October meeting of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen. The proceedings of the Board of Supervisors will also be found in this issue, together with a number of other official publications.

—Dr. A. F. Smith this week purchased for his own occupancy the dwelling on the beach front owned and occupied by Dr. B. C. Rush, for a consideration of $5,500. Dr. Rush and Mrs. Rush left during the week for Yazoo County, where they will visit Mrs. Rush's father, Hon. J. J. McGraw, at Vaughan. Later Dr. Rush will locate at Yazoo City, where he will engage in the practice of his profession, to the regret of the many Bay St. Louis friends and acquaintances.

—The Merchants Bank, Bay St. Louis, put forth this problem during the County Fair this week: "If Bienville had deposited $1.00 with the Merchants Bank at the time he discovered the Gulf Coast in the Savings Department at 4 per cent compounded interest, how much would it amount to now?" The nearest correct answer will call for a prize of handsome 6-pound box of candy. No answer considered after the night of October 10th.

—A special meeting of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County has been called for Wednesday, October 12th, to consider the order received from the Board of State Tax Commissioners and to which meeting the tax-payers and public in general are invited. The order from the Tax Commission is to the effect that all timber assessments in Hancock county be raised 50 per cent, and the value of all land excluding timber be raised 10 per cent.

—Penny party given yesterday afternoon by Miss G. Fayard benefit of the Victoria fund of the primary department of Central school, resulted in a most gratifying success. There was a large attendance, including collegians from St. Stanislaus, and the sum of $33.75 was realized. The party was given on the lawn of Miss Fayard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. Fayard, at their pretty home in Main street. Features of the evening's entertainment were several, including the fancy dancing by Misses Dorothy Proctor and Annie May Stack.

—Taking effect last Monday morning, the ownership of the Bay Coast passed from R. H. Giannelli to E. Van Whitfield, who will conduct this well known and popular restaurant in future. Mr. Giannelli purchased the business from H. C. Edge, July 19th and made quite a success, but the responsibilities of a fast-growing business encroached on his health and upon the advice of his physician he was forced to relinquish it. Mr. Van Whitfield, as you know, is the owner and conductor of the Bay Coast.

HANCOCK COUNTY FAIR WAS GREAT

Fourth Annual Fair Held in This City Thursday and Friday

Exhibits Were More Complete and Attendance by Far the Largest

It must and it is exceedingly gratifying to all concerned to know that the fourth annual Hancock County Fair, held in Bay St. Louis on Thursday and Friday of this week, was in many respects a bigger success than all former years.

The spirit from over the county was above the average as shown by the completeness of the different exhibits, and the arrangement of things, classification and variety attracted the attention of the judges. The schools from the rural districts had splendid exhibits, and most, if not all, were of a most meritorious order, reflecting more than ordinary credit to the people of the various towns and communities represented.

A full and complete list of the prize winners, including contestants in the Baby Show, will appear in The Echo next week.

DEATH OF JULES FAYRE, SR.

Jules Fayre, Sr., one of the oldest and best known residents of Waveland, passed away at 4:40 o'clock Monday morning October 8th, 1921, after an illness extending over a period of some time. Born in Waveland, October 6th, 1846, he was 75 years of age at the time of his death, and no citizen of our sister city was better known.

The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon from the late residence and was largely attended, testifying to the esteem in which the deceased was held. Interment was in the family burial plot, Cedar Rest Cemetery. Several grown children survive. These are Jules Fayre, Jr., Alcide Fayre, Mrs. Carmelite Carver, Mrs. John Carver, of Waveland, and Mrs. Josephine Allison, of New Orleans. The late Mrs. (Judge) Lazere was also a daughter of the deceased.

At different times Mr. Fayre held positions of responsibility and trust, thus he served his community and people in various capacities. His death removes a well-known figure, and a citizen who was generally esteemed by all who knew him.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT TO LARROUX CHILDREN

Two Young Sons of Mrs. R. R. Solomon Victims of Delivery Truck Collision

James and Emile Larroux, young sons of Mrs. R. R. Solomon, residing in Dunbar avenue, while riding to Central school Thursday morning, on Perre's Bakery auto delivery truck, were the victims of an accident which nearly cost them their lives. Helena Coward, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Coward, residing in Julia street, also of the number of children in the truck, was painfully, but sufficiently, to be carried home and is still in bed. She is doing nicely.

It appears, as is the custom every morning, the driver of the Perre delivery truck, had picked up some seven children who were walking along Second street on their way to Central school. The Larroux boys were riding on the fenders, it is said. Others sat in front with the driver. He was crowded and his position was such he could not steer clearly. Reaching the vicinity of the W. O. Sylvester residence, a coal delivery wagon was traveling to the opposite direction, and towards the truck, when soon both collided with sudden impact as to turn the truck half ways around and toppled it over with its freight of humanity. The Larroux children were partly pinned under the turned over truck, and were taken out with some difficulty. On examination of physicians it was found that James, the oldest of the boys, was more seriously hurt; injured about the head and body only. The older boy was unconscious and remained so throughout the day. On the advice of local physicians as a precaution against any emergency that might arise or develop in their condition, the boys were taken to Toussaint Infirmary, New Orleans, that evening in order that every advantage of hospital equipment might be had if necessary.

Late advice from New Orleans is to the effect the boys are doing as well as could be expected and will recover. At first it was thought the older boy, aged 12, might not survive, but his improved condition removes such possibility.

Only two weeks since Mr. and Mrs. Solomon lost a little daughter, and now some have been depressed by the hand of unkind fate in the loss of their two boys. It is a sad tragedy. At Thursday morning's session, the Board of Supervisors, upon the advice of their physician, he was forced to relinquish it. Mr. Van Whitfield, as you know, is the owner and conductor of the Bay Coast.

Menck and J. C. Mountain, to audit totals, and Bill Board having examined said assessment roll, and the minutes heretofore referred to, and having ascertained that they did overlook setting out correctly the total valuation for all the years, where timber was assessed at all.

NOW, THEREFORE, in order to cure this error, the said Board has on this day gone over said back assessment, verified its examination, equalization, and corrections, and properly extended the totals of valuations for each year on said timber as appears fully in Minute Book, J, page 565, and

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED, that the said back assessment as made by the assessor of this county in said land assessment roll for 1921 and 1922, pages 104 to 110, inclusive, as corrected with the extensions properly carried out of the total taxes assessed as appears in said book, at said pages, be and the same is hereby approved.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, that the order of assessment made at the last meeting of this Board be considered as amended only to the extent of carrying out said totals, but that otherwise, the said approval of said assessment roll stands as then approved. However, in order to give any one caring to object to the extensions or otherwise,

IT IS ORDERED, that any one aggrieved at said assessment, as provided by law, shall have 90 days from the entry of this order to enter their objections to said assessment, as made and totals as carried out.

The report of the County Superintendent of Education received and ordered filed.

The report of the County agent received and ordered filed.

The petition of Dan Ladner, et al, for a public road leaving the Picaune road about out-mile west of Willie Ladners and to run in a westerly direction by Pierre Saucier to Amner postoffice, be received and ordered filed. Jos. L. Fayre and Jos. Moran, a committee of two has been appointed by this Board to examine and if deemed practicable mark and lay out said road.

There coming on to be heard the affidavit of Geo. R. Rea, who has made affidavit that his assessment by mistake failed to give credit for the $2500.00 allowed as exemption on his income, and the Board having heard evidence in the matter, doth find that by mistake Geo. R. Rea, was charged up with an income of $4,000, and not giving him credit of $2,500 as allowed by law the Board now enters an order correcting said error changing or ordering changed by proper party correcting the assessment of Geo. R. Rea, on his income from $4,000 to $1,500, the correct amount; and that a copy of this order be and is given to the Sheriff of the County and a copy be sent to the State Auditor.
